Next generation timetabling software

Edval
Algorithmic based timetabling software. Unsurpassed solution quality.

EdvalDaily
Comprehensive daily school organiser, complete with exam timetabling, cover management, multi user capability and statistical reporting.

WebChoice
Preference based online subject selections with curriculum rules. Student choices are directly injected into Edval timetabling software.

EdvalPTN
Parent teacher night software reshaping schools’ approach to interview nights! Preference based batch processing, fairer, more efficient and schools regain control.

EdvalAttend
Fully integrated attendance and welfare system complete with SMS and messaging capability, automated wizards, document management, parent and student portal.

Summer Cooling
The Fans create a steady breeze which ‘cools’ by evaporative cooling – or, the rate of which perspiration is evaporated from the skin’s surface. Our Fans make the surrounding area feel between 5 – 10ºC cooler!

Energy savings of as much as 30% are entirely possible.

Winter Heat Distribution
It’s not uncommon for the temperature to differ 5 – 10ºC between floor and ceiling especially in winter. Our Fans gently circulate the heat trapped at the ceiling down to the floor creating less demand from expensive heating installations where the demand thermostat is most likely positioned at eye level.

Rufus Black
Master of Ormond College, The University of Melbourne

Dr Rufus Black a strategic advisor, ethicist and theologian who works on public policy, ethical and education issues. He is Master of Ormond College at the University of Melbourne, Deputy Chancellor of Victoria University and the Founding Chair of the Board of Teach for Australia. He is also a director of the law firm Corrs Chambers Westgarth, and of the Walter and Eliza Hall Institute.

Rufus’s advisory work for government at federal and state levels has involved work on defence, security, healthcare and education. He is the author of three major government reviews.

Before becoming Master of Ormond College, Rufus worked at McKinsey & Company for nine years where he was a partner. He holds degrees in law and politics from the University of Melbourne and graduate degrees in moral theology from the University of Oxford, where he studied as a Rhodes Scholar.

Sarah Bachelard
Director of the Benedictus Contemplative Church, Research Fellow at the Australian Catholic University

Sarah Bachelard is an Anglican priest, theologian and retreat leader, and a Research Fellow at the Australian Catholic University. Sarah is the founder and director of Benedictus Contemplative Church, and has previously worked in theological education, parish ministry, and in the Senate Committee Office. Sarah is the author of Experiencing God in a Time of Crisis and Resurrection and Moral Imagination. Her secondary education was at Canberra Girls’ Grammar School, and she was a Rhodes Scholar.
Stephen Harrison
Director of Mission, Anglican Schools Office (Southern Queensland)

Stephen is currently the Director of Mission for the Anglican Schools Office in Southern Queensland and is engaged in doctoral studies. He is the creator and editor of Experiri, a quarterly newsletter profiling innovation in Anglican school ministry. Stephen’s passion for learning has seen him complete degrees in science, theology, community welfare, education and mission. Primarily he considers himself a mission and ministry practitioner, having worked in congregations, Anglican schools, as a university chaplain and at the Diocesan level. His multi-disciplinary education means he brings an eclectic approach to exploring the mission and operative ecclesiology of church and school.

Nick Farr-Jones
Director of Taurus Funds Management

Educated at Newington College, Nick Farr-Jones studied law at the University of Sydney and obtained an LLB. He went on to work in a Sydney-based mid-sized legal firm for almost a decade. Nick was selected to play with the Wallabies in 1984 and continued with the team for a decade, captaining the team from 1988. He led the Wallabies to World Cup victory in 1991. Nick moved with his young family to Paris for four years, having accepted an offer to join the commodity derivatives team of the French investment bank Société Générale (SG). He returned to Sydney in the late 90s to head up SG’s mining finance team for a decade before joining Taurus Funds Management, which manages funds investment in the global resources sector.

As well as speaking throughout Australia, Dan works with a diverse range of people and organisations and his work has been featured on Channel 10 and the ABC. He writes regularly for Fairfax Media’s education pages as well as The Australian Teacher magazine. In his role as a consultant, Dan has worked with the NSW and Victorian governments on education initiatives, not-for-profit organisations, regional education offices, professional associations and individual schools.

His work centres on the relationship between engagement, wellbeing, achievement and leadership. Dan empowers organisations, schools and individuals to lead educational change. Dan also runs workshops with students from K-12 and tertiary students. His website is http://danhaesler.com

Gillian Moses
Chaplain, St Aidan’s Anglican Girls’ School

The Rev’d Gillian Moses trained in Law and Japanese at the University of Queensland before becoming a fulltime mother to four daughters. She was ordained in 2008 in the Anglican Diocese of Brisbane. Following appointments at St John’s Cathedral in Brisbane and as Assistant to the Primate, Gillian served as parish priest in the beautiful Sunshine Coast hinterland. She has been Chaplain at St Aidan’s Anglican Girls’ School since July 2014.

Gillian’s research interests lie in understanding the structures and uses of power in the church through the lenses of feminist and postcolonial theology.

She authored the Brisbane Diocese’s study guide Asylum Seekers and Refugees: Scriptural, Theological and Ethical Approaches designed to assist parish and other groups to explore asylum-seeker and refugee related issues in depth and through focused engagement with relevant scriptures. In March 2015 Gillian was an Australian delegate to the United Nations Commission for the Status of Women. She has also been a member of General Synod. Her other interests include poetry and art, particularly as they are used liturgically.
